

Contraband "safe" found hidden in Ramen noodles

Correctional officers in Oklahoma uncovered this interesting technique being used by inmates to smuggle in contraband. Thanks to them for sharing these photos, hopefully they'll help officers elsewhere uncover similar techniques at their facilities.

Great work officers!

If you've taken photos of contraband at your facility, email them to CorrectionsOne.com and we'll put them in our secure database for other correctional professionals to learn from. Email: editor@correctionsone.com

About the author

These images and videos of illegal inmate contraband have come directly from CorrectionsOne members, readers and expert contributors. As officers in the field, CorrectionsOne members have the greatest insight into the contraband and illegal tactics used by inmates to subvert the security of our nation's vital corrections institutions. By submitting these images and videos of paraphernalia, CorrectionsOne members share potentially life-saving information with their brothers and sisters.